THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L., SR.

Some fine Saturday and Sunday there will be a Cherry Carnival in North San Juan. This year it is under the auspices of the North San Juan Chamber of Commerce, which has recently been born. In about four months the chamber has more members, a lot more, than there are businesses in the town. They have gone out in all directions and have enlisted 140 members, paid-up.

It takes a lot of energy and enthusiasm to do a thing like that. It means that between Camptonville, Yuba County, and North San Juan, every sawmill worker, ranchman, and cabin dweller has been solicited and most of them have become members. The chamber's unpaid president and unpaid secretary undoubtedly realize that the hurrah of getting the membership is now about over except that they must gradually recruit more members, to keep the ark where it is, and keep the membership roll healthy and growing.

The membership will of course expect a quid pro quo. They will want some of their roads leading off from the highway improved. The sawmill contingent will ask an endorsement of the stand taken by the Lumbermen's Protective Association regarding the Woodleaf Sustained Yield Unit, and the ranch owners will ask aid in securing legislation that safeguards the cattle growing and farming industries. The towns of Camptonville and North San Juan will aske help in preserving the old historic buildings and sprucing up the rest of the community.

There are errands any chamber of commerce is expected to run. Socially the Cherry Carnival is an old institution. Just how old we do not profess to know, but it is the big time of the year for North San Juan, and the chamber which has taken hold of it with vigor and vim, expects to clear quite some tidy sum as result of its activities. It takes money to make the mare go .

If we were giving advice to chamber officials anywhere, we would first of all suggest that they keep their committees alive and working. When a committee man begins to lag, its time for an addition, not a replacement, on the committee, some new man with a lot of pent up energy and tact to go in and work as though his future depended on the results he produces. A good membership committee, for instance, backed up by worthwhile projects on the part of the chamber, is an immense help toward keeping the entire chamber on its toes. For after all it is not the dues the chamber needs so much as the good work done for the community by all the members pulling together. The dues merely provide a little lubrication for the machine.

And when the chamber has an opportunity to take over some enterprise, such as the Cherry Carnival in North San Juan, an enterprise which may have been an orphan or half orphan, and make a little money for the treasury, everyone should be glad, because that means more money on tap for the community benefit.

WHIST PARTY

GRASS VALLEY: The Mount St. Mary's Mothers Club last evening gave the last of its whist parties for May. Playing prizes were awarded during the evening. There was a large group of players that comfortably filled Serra Hall.

The committee in charge consisted of Mesdames William Sproul, Mildred Cunningham, Vera Good, Keith Clark, and Hannah Hall.

Postoffice Restored to Rough and Ready

ROUGH AND READY: The Rough and Ready Postoffice, discontinued in 1942, will be reopened June 15th as a fourth class office. This announcement was made recently by the new postmaster, Mrs. Andrew W. Rodgers, and Mrs. Martini Paul, who circulated a petition and enlisted the aid of Clair Engle, congressman from this district.

The postoffice will be located in a brand new store and apartment building recently erected by Mrs. Andrews' husband, just a block or two west of the Rough and Ready Hotel.

Mrs. Letitia Vroman was postmaster when it was closed with the beginning of the late war.

Rough and Ready is renowned for the fact that during the Civil War it seceded from the Union and for a brief few months was the Republic of Rough and Ready. The first white woman to arrive in camp in 1850 was accorded a golden reception. All the men gathered to meet the stage and poured into her lap the first riffle of gold dust taken that day from the long toms and sluice boxes.

She received about 21 ounces of gold, which in those days was worth around $500. A 75-foot cottonwood is known as the Hanging tree, and also as the Slave Girl tree. The last name was a bit gentler than the first, and is supposed to have been named from the incident of a slave girl, who crossed the plains with a white family, and one day pushed her riding whip, a cottonwood switch, into the earth where it grew and flourished.

It is related that Frank Fippin, whose blacksmith shop, at least a part of it, still stands, coming through Donner Pass in the year following the Donner tragedy, saw the bones of dead men and beasts bleaching in the sun at the eastern end of Donner Lake.

FINE PEACH CREATOR DIES

GRASS VALLEY: Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in Myers Mortuary Chapel for William Franklin Yerkes, famed as the creator of the Rio Oso Gem peach. Rev. W. W. Turner, pastor of the Congregational Church, conducted the service. The body was shipped to Olympia, Wash., for burial. Yerkes died at his home Friday night.

He was born in Bucks County, Pa., and lived much of his 86 years in Washington. In 1919 he came to California and bought a ranch at Rio Oso in Yuba County, just west of the Nevada County line. On this ranch he found the seedling peach which he christened the Rio Oso Gem, now one of the stable market peaches of commerce.

The deceased moved to Wheatland, Sutter County, on his retirement where the family lived for some time, then, three years ago bought a home in the Sunset Tract near this city.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Maud R. Yerkes, sons, Horace L., Seattle, William E., Marysville, and Leland A., Oregon, and a daughter, Mrs. Evalyn Reddy, Yuba City, Sutter County.

BOY DROWNS IN WET HILL RESERVOIR

NEVADA CITY: Norman Foote, 11, died at 6:00 P. M. yesterday, when after attempting to rescue little Michael Adams, 5, a girl, from the 20-foot deep waters of Wet Hill reservoir. he choked on a big wad of bubble gum, and drowned.

The rescue of the little girl was completed by Wesley Brady, 12, who then summoned his father, William Brady, who recovered Norman Foote from the water.

The children were fishing from the ramp over the reservoir. Young Foote was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Foote of Wet Hill.

As Brady brounght out the body of Norman Foote, the Nevada City Fire Department Resuscitator Squad, under Chief of Police Max Solaro arrived, together with Dr. Bernard W. Hummelt and Dr. Norbert B. Frey. They worked on the boy for two hours recovering the wad of gum, until hope of recovery was lost and the body taken to Holmes Funeral Home, where arrangements for the funeral are pending.

THIEF TAKES $45 AT HILPERT'S

NEVADA CITY: A sneak thief entered the J. R. Hilpert Harddare store Friday while Mrs. Hilpert was out, opened her handbag and extracted about $45 in currency and coins.

Mrs. Hilpert was unable to give a good description of the thief, but said he was about 17 years of age, 5 feet and six inches in height, light complexioned, and wore a white shirt. When she returned he was standing near the handbag, which lay on the counter opened. She did not notice the loss until shortly after noon, a half hour later.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN LUNCH AT NYACK

NEVADA CITY: The annual Spring luncheon of the Nevada County branch of the American Association of University Women was held last Saturday at 1:30 P. M. in the Nyack Lodge near the Summit. Daphne Gardner was in charge of arrangements.

Miss Helen Chapman, retiring president, introduced the new officers. Dorothy Sparks is the new president; Ruth Frantz, vice president; Constance Pfiffer, treasurer; Daphne Gardner, recording secretary; and Virginia Green, corresponding secretary.

Miss Chapman and Mrs. Sparks, who were delegates to the annual state convention of University Women in San Francisco, gave brief resumes of the main items on the program there. Following the luncheon William Tobiassen sang several selections and Martha Campbell gave a reading.

WHAT VOTERS WANT

(Editorial)

Nevada Township voters are asking themselves: What do we need on the Board of Supervisors? What qualities in a candidate will equip him to deal with the complex problems of administering a million-dollar budget?

They are asking themselves which of the 10 candidates will do the job best.

Is it likely to be an old man, nearing the sunset of life, or a young man, full of plans and energy?

Is it to be a man of successful business experience, or one whose knowledge is limited by the bounds of a mechanical trade?

Are education and broad experience an essential in meeting the diverse necessities of the huge county business, or is simple "rule of thumb" enough?

Is it to be a man of conservative, steady politics, or one of leftist lack of consistency?

With veteran's problems an important factor in our national and county life, is it not natural to have on the Board of Supervisors a combat veteran of World War II?

Harley M. Leete, Jr., a young Nevada City man who administers a successful and growing business, believes that he can aid in directing this county to increased tourist trade, the development of local industries, better roads with more state aid, and a higher level of prosperity.

HELD FOR HIT-RUN CRASH

GRASS VALLEY: Leroy Dickermn, 32, held in the county jail for hit and run driving, will probably appear today for arraignment in Grass Valley Township Court.

Ethan A. LeNeve, 37, was moved from a local hospital to the Mare Island Naval Hospital yesterday through intervention of the American Legion Post. He is suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg and other injuries, when he was struck by a car driven by Dickerman.

Before leaving for Mare Island, LeNeve said: I had gotten out of the pick-up truck to see if my rear lights were burning when struck. I was knocked into the back of the truck. Dickerman's car came straight at me, not shifting into the other lane.

Dickerman said his windshield was slightly fogged and he did not discover he had hit LeNeve and sideswiped his car until he reached Grass Valley about 3:45 A. M. The accident happened a short distance east of LeBarr Meadows at 3:45 Sunday morning.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY DEER DAMAGE

GRASS VALLEY: The round table discussion of damage done by deer to orchards and field crops while inconclusive, seemed to indicate that deer were increasing in numbers and that if hunters were allowed to kill one buck and one doe this coming season, it might help the farmer. The conference was held in the Peardale Farm Center.

William McKitrick of Newtown told of a 12 ton grape crop that was reduced last fall by deer to two tons. Thomas Leuteneker of Chicago Park followed with a description of his 60-acre orchard last Spring after the deer had gone through it and nibbled off all the fruit buds within reach. Clarence Gassaway of Higgins Corners told how deer have multiplied so fast in his neighborhood that they are now competing with his livestock for forage on his ranch.

C. B. Williams of the Nevada County Sportsmen's Club said that while naturally all sportsmen desired plenty of deer, they did not wish to see the crops of farmers destroyed.

William Dasman of the state Division of Fish and Game stated that wild animals are the property of all the people and the Fish and Game Commission desires to administer and manage them for the benefit of all the people.

At the close of the meeting it was suggested that the Nevada County Farm Bureau for a committee to study the question of damage and present recommendations following it, to the Fish and Game Commission.

DEPOT HILL RD. TO BE FIXED

NEVADA CITY: Downey Clinch, member of the delegation from the Sierra Chamber of Commerce, which met with the State Highway Commission in Oakland, has reported that the commission gave the go-ahead sign to the improvement of the three mile section of the Downieivlle Highway that includes Depot Hill.

Delegates attending the meeting were Louis Huelsdonk, president of the Downieville, Sierra County. chamber, Mrs. Al Irby, secretary of the Sierra Nevada chamber, E. O. Carvin, civic leader of Alleghany, Sierra County, C. L. Best, mine owners of Sierra County, Bert Austin, mining committee head of the San Francisco chamber, Ross Taylor of Downieville, and P. G. Steele of the Grass Valley Chamber. The party was introduced by State Senator Allen G. Thurman.

Charles H. Purcell, state director of public works, summarized the appeal of the delegation, and expressed his approval of the project. The motion for the three mile improvement was promptly seconded and passed.

Soroptomists Club Installs Officers

NEVADA CITY: Mrs. Virginia Hilliard was installed as president of the Nevada City Soroptomists Club Thursday night, May 20th, in a charming candlelight ceremony in the National Hotel.

The installation was directed by Mrs. Ted Pankratz of the Colfax club. She was assisted by the presidents of the Sacramento and Marysville clubs, who pinned corsages of yellow roses on each officer installed.

The tables were decorated by bowls of yellow and blue flowers, the club colors, by Mrs. Gertrude Lantz, Mrs. Mildred Albro, and Mrs. Virginia Kerr.

The new president received a jeweled pin from her predecessor, Mrs. Louise Goode, and in turn gave the past president a gift from the club. Mrs. Elsie Presley, first vice president, presented Mrs. Goode with a silver evening bag. Two new members were admitted, Mrs. Dorothy E. Randolph and Mrs. Lisetta Scheave.

Coroner's Jury Finds Cause Of Death

GRASS VALLEY: The coroner's jury of nine men holding an inquest upon the death of Jackie Choat, aged 33, who was killed when the pick-up truck, driven by Harry M. Hodgson, went off the Bear Valley grade on Highway 20, found her death was caused by a crushed chest.

Hodgson did not testify but several other witnesses were examined, including patrol officers George Hammill and Earl W. Crane, Chief of Police Frank Knuckey. Two eye-witnesses, Raymond A. Baker of Long Beach, and Earl E. Caber, truck driver, submitted statements.

Hodgson gave bail of $1,000 after being charged with negligent homicide.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

The miners on Deer Creek, below the town, turned out last week and drove all of the Chinamen off that stream. The heathen had got to be impudent and aggressive, taking up claims the same as white men and appropriating water without asking leave. They cut one of the miner's dams and, when he attempted to repair it, chased him away, brandishing their shovels and making a great hullabaloo. He passed the word up and down the creek, and that afternoon about fifty miners gathered together, ran the Chinamen out of the district, broke up their pumps and boxes, tore out their dams, destroyed their ditches, burned up their cabins and warned them not to come back under the penalty of being shot if they made a reappearance. The miner's actions are generally endorsed and there is a disposition to bar the Chinks out of the district. It is said that they are coming to the State by thousands, and if not molested, they would soon overrun the country. Below Newtown they have got possession of two or three miles of the creek and are not disturbed, as they acquired the ground by purchase from white speculators. I am told that they paid in the neighborhood of forty thousand dollars for the claims they are working. It is a sight to see them on the trails, packing two big baskets of stuff on the ends of a bamboo pole and carrying a load that would stagger a jackass.

MAY 23, 1852—It would seem as if we had at last got to the final chapter in the story of the Round Mountain couple, and it has ended in a sad sort of way. John Hall, who was out hunting yesterday afternoon, passed by the cabin and, seeing no signs of life and receiving no response to his call opened the door, which was unlocked, and went in. He was shocked to find the man on the bed lifeless and cold. There were no traces of violence and Hall says the man looked more like one asleep than dead. The cabin was undisturbed and if it had not been for a letter left on the table there would have been no reason to believe that he had died from other than natural causes. However, the note and the traces of crystals of arsenic in a cup clearly indicated that he had committed suicide. The letter, which I copied, was strange and pitiful. He had written in a clear, firm hand:

"Whoever finds my body, if it has not gone back to its original elements before discovery, will if it taxes not his humanity too much, dig a hole and cover it with clean earth and there let it rot without mound or stone to mark the place. It is only an atom that of its own accord goes back from whence it came. While it dwelt on earth, it found men rogues and women false. It inspired hate and treachery but could not compass love. Fearing its own company, distrusting all men and despising all women, it arrogated the right to end an existence that was thrust upon it

LANDINGS -- THEN AND LATER

The Navy's role in the assaults of American forces on the shores and beaches of enemy territory has been indispensable throughout its history, although the invasion methods have changed radically with each conflict. Above photo of an old print depicts the landing of American forces under General Scott at Vera Cruz in 1847 — amphibious operation, Mexican War style. Below is a scene from World War II, taken nearly a century later, as Marines stormed the black beach of Iwo Jima beneath scowling Mt. Suribachi in the landing craft of a scientific age. Just Wonderin'

I Wonder when great questions rise
To agitate the human mind,
How many people answer them
In terms that are not well defined.
I wish some master mind would speak
In firm, clear tones and tell us why
The nations go their brawling way
And good will reservoirs run dry.

Once upon a time, the pastors of two Negro churches agreed to exchange pulpits for a few Sundays. In explaining the plan to his congregation, one pastor declared, "Brethren and sisterin' de holy man who will serve you next Sunday, is one of de greatest expounders of de age, an' de wisest. He knows de unknowable, he sees de unseeable an' he unscrews de unscrutable!"

The great man came at the appointed time and rising in the pulpit announced that for the morning subject he had chosen "The Ship of Religion." Said he, "De great ship of religion sails on an' on. Right through every storm de great ship sails on an' on, wild wind blows an' great waves rises, rocks an' reefs threaten her an' breakers roars, but de great ship sails on an' on. My dear, dear chillens, de great ship of religion sails on an' on, bekase she is founded on a rock!"

Our mighty Ship of State, the American Union, is founded upon a rock—we all believe that fact should be patent to all beholders; so despite the howling winds of fate that buffet her and the waves of dissention which assail, she too will sail on and on, following her own star and in time, reaching the harbor of her dreams. The way ahead may be long and tortuous, but still let's never entertain a doubt of her ultimate destiny. Men of old founded her upon a rock, and with the darkey pastor, we must say, "she will sail on an' on."

Meanwhile, as we look about us and observe the confusion into which the world has fallen in its war to win the peace, it may be that some wiseacre will arise who is able to peer into the future, see the unseeable, know the unknowable and unscrew the unscrutable; such a one might allay our fears by disclosing the light that shines behind the darkest cloud.

I Wonder why President Truman didn't call Uncle

Isoard of Nevada City, returned from the Copper River country in Alaska sick and disgusted and reported hundreds of men searcing for gold faithfully under extreme hardships without success and that increasing numbers of them, suffering cold, hunger and snow blindness, were wishing they had remained at home. It was stated on good authority that the disheartened men were offered free passage by the steamship companies if they would circulate stories of thir success and Alaska's richness.

without its consent. There is no one left to mourn or rejoice; and if there is an unproved hereafter, of which no man knows, it will at least have repose from the clack of idle tongues."

There was no signature and, singularly enough, there was not a soul who knew the man's name. Pard, to whom I read the copy of the letter, was quite affected and said that, while it was morbid and cynical, it showed, whoever he was, a man of more than ordinary intelligence, one who had drank the cup to the bitter dregs. "Be sure, Alf," he continued, "it's the eternal feminine; to some of us they are angels, to others—this poor fellow for example—the reverse. I hope they will carry out his last wish, and I will go over this afternoon and see that they do." I went along and found quite a crowd. There was a coroner's inquest and a verdict of suicide, and then Pard proposed that we carry out the dead man's last request. We dug a hole on the hillside, about a hundred yards away from the cabin, rolled the body up in blankets and deposited it in the bottom. The crowd asked Pard to say something and he made a few remarks, in substance as follows:

'Boys, a sermon would be a hollow mockery, a eulogy pure invention, for of his virtues or his failings we know nothing. He was a man, who having tasted life, found it unpalatable and pushed it aside. From what little we know, he loved, sorrowed, despaired

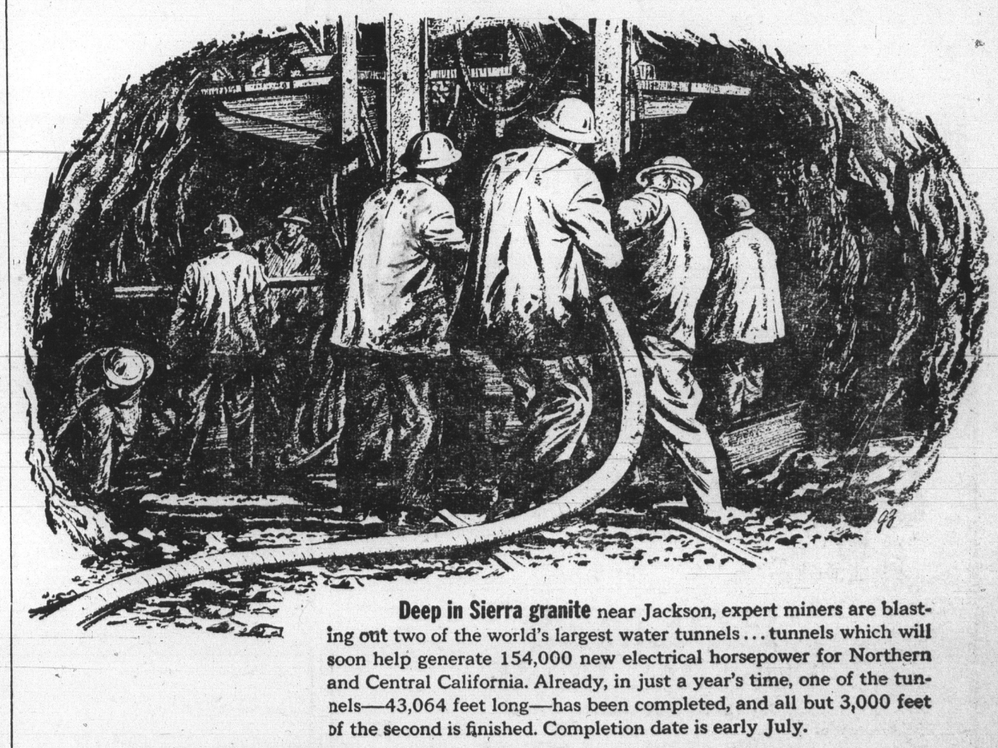
Giant water tunnels

12 miles through granite

will soon step up P. G. and E. power



Deep in Sierra granite near Jackson, expert miners are blasting out two of the world's largest water tunnels . . . tunnels which will soon help generate 154,000 new electrical horsepower for Northern and Central California. Already, in just a year's time, one of the tunnels—43,064 feet long—has been completed, and all but 3,000 feet of the second is finished. Completion date is early July.

200 feet a day has been average progress, and rivalry is high as crews at both ends of the remaining tunnel battle rock and time to beat each other. Special bonuses are paid for every foot over thirty; work goes on 'round the clock six days a week. The tunnels are 15½ feet high and 13 feet wide.

On the Mokelumne River below, the big new Electra powerhouse (one of two soon to be served by the tunnels) nears completion. Here, three big generators will soon be whirling out 133,000 electrical-horsepower . . . new power to help meet our greatest demand in history . . . new power to serve you better.

For the record

These tunnels are just a small part of the P.G. and E. construction program

Actually nearly 2,000,000 electrical horsepower will be added . . . twice as much as was needed to serve all of pre-war Northern California

This is the biggest program of any electrical utility in America today . . . and we're going full speed ahead.

Work never stops on our power-building program

Joe's bluff. He must have a poor opinion of his own powers of persuasion. If Stalin is willing to talk things over, our President should be willing to meet him at any time and at any place. In such a talk fest, it is barely possible that a step toward the goal of better understanding may be taken, and that possibility should weigh heavily in Mr. Truman's scales of decision. Talk is cheap and often when two men sit down together, place their cards on the table and call a spade a spade, truth shines forth and understanding is increased. By all means talk with Stalin, meet him on the moon if no other place is feasible; the entire world is in a sorry plight and no opportunity for even a wee bit of accord should be neglected.

and laid down the burden. The only tribute we can pay him is not to vex the air roundabout his old dwelling place, to quote his epitaph, 'with the clack of idle tongues.'"

Then we filled the grave, rolled a big rock on it and went away. It was a simple but most impressive ceremony and one could see that it had made an impression on the crowd. Happy, careless fellows, they went from curiosity, and came away with great pity for the dead. After we got back to the cabin we could not help speculating on it all. Marie, who had stayed away, was in tears over the story and the last letter. "Poor fellow," she said, "perhaps somewhere a muzzer she wait and she mourn for him and he comes not." I rode over to town with her, but we were both low spirited and melancholy and had but little to say to each other. Altogether, it is about the saddest Sabbath day I have spent in this country, and it has set me thinking how little we know or care about the affairs of those other than ourselves or immediate friends.

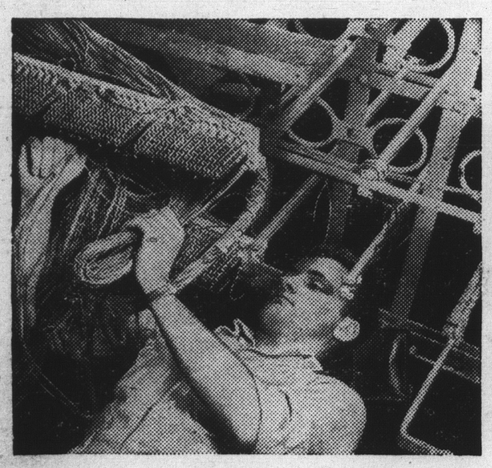
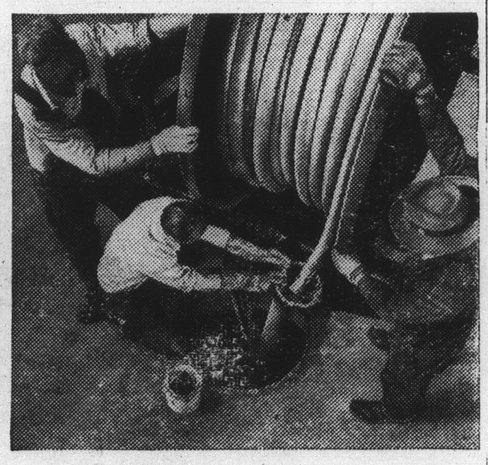
what it takes to handle

19 MILLION CALLS A DAY

1. Down the line come telephone instruments...your first link with an amazing system. They're sensitive and complex—but just a small part of the facilities required to connect your home with millions of others—and handle nineteen million calls a day. That's Pacific Telephone's present average. In 1940 it was 11,000,000 calls a day.



2. Intricate switching equipment like this must be practically custom made and installed before telephones can be used. You've probably never seen it...but it's on the job every time you make a call. And there's still more to the story. Land and buildings and other equipment must be provided—all of it's expensive.



3. "Roadways of speech"... telephone lines and cables...have to be ready to carry the calls. There's nearly fourteen million miles of wire now at work in the West...and more is being added every day. Handling more calls than ever in our history keeps all our facilities mighty busy—along with the telephone people who man them.

4. Where does the money come from? Millions of new working dollars...needed to extend and improve service...must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This depends on the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company

More than 70,000 people working together to furnish ever-better telephone service to the West

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's Leap Year, Girls!

First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday.

When I asked Bill Jr. if it was true that Janey really did the proposing, Bill said: No, but she made it plain she'd make an ideal wife. Instead of looking for diversion or excitement every evening, she was content to chat beside the fire.

"I could plainly see," says Bill, "that we'd really have a happy home life—which is just exactly what I want from marriage."

I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.)

But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck!
